

CLINICALLY EXCELLENT EATING DISORDER TREATMENT FOR TEENS

Located just outside of Birmingham, Alabama, Magnolia Creek a premier women's eating disorder treatment center specializing in co-occurring mental health and substance use disorders. With clinical outcomes exceeding national benchmarks, we're proud also support teen girls (ages 12-17) with specialized programming in a uniquely tranquil and restorative environment.

Each teen receives a tailored treatment plan, helping them regain their overall mental, physical, and overall wellness as they progress towards lasting recovery. In addition to our evidence-based treatment, with clinical outcomes exceeding national benchmarks, we offer the following teen-specific components:

Separate cottage for living and treatment

Art and experiential therapies

Robust family therapy program

Specialized staff

Licensed, on-site teachers who coordinate with local school systems

Menu modifications

As part of our Care Through Culinary™ program, meals are served family-style as clients eat together with our staff. A dietitian works with each client to create balanced and nutritious menus that can offer vegetarian options. Additionally, our dietitians join during family visits to help create a successful plan for re-integration with each teen's family when they return home.

Magnolia Creek's camp-like environment offers outdoor features that include walking paths, a chicken coop, beautiful views around a private lake, hammocks, outdoor games, campfires, and the opportunity to fish or feed turtles. Additionally, our on-site chef leads hands-on cooking and baking groups, working with fresh-focused, approachable gourmet menus.

Magnolia Creek Teens is an LGBTQ+ inclusive and affirming environment.
